

LOSS PREVENTION TRAINING

Ethical Decision Making for Public Safety

Description: This program will focus on two leadership principles – Integrity, and Ethics. These principles promote high standards of employee conduct, commitment, achievement, and organizational spirit. The goal of this seminar is to enhance the self-development of your personnel, while contributing to a higher level of performance and service to your organization.

Course Objective: Participants will learn and discuss:

- Two leadership principles-Integrity and Ethics
- Apply the leadership principles to various scenarios
- Ways to improve officer conduct and performance

Who should attend? This program will benefit emergency medical, fire, and police personnel, public works, city managers, and elected officials.

Continuing Education & Certification Hours: Law enforcement receives TCLEOSE credit

Lunch will be provided.

Instructor: Retired Police Commander Jim W. Dodson is the instructor for this training. Commander Dodson has over twenty-seven years of law enforcement experience with the Odessa Police Department, including sixteen years of police command and management experience, and twenty-two years as a certified police instructor.
